St. John Ambulance Quota Set At $375 For Coleman

Canvass Started This Week; Must Have Money to Finance Voluntary Services Within the Province.

Coleman branch of St. John Ambulance Association is working this week to raise $375 in town which has been set as the local objective in the national campaign.

The local executive does not plan a door-to-door canvass but will solicit local organizations in order to reach their objective. Individuals and smaller organizations who may not be canvassed and who wish to donate are asked to send their donations to either secretary J. M. Rushton or president Everett Price.

St. John Ambulance classes in First Aid have been popular in Coleman for a great many years and several Dominion and provincial trophies have been won by local First Aiders.

In the mines accidents often happen and it is there that Aid is invaluable. Many lives have been saved because a First Aider was nearby and cared for the patient before a doctor could possibly arrive at the scene.

WHAT IT DOES
St. John Ambulance promotes safety by teaching First Aid—without charge—in schools and factories. It promotes health in the home by arranging classes in Home Nursing wherever the need and the interest exist. Such training makes an important contribution to the safety, health, and the availability of prompt treatment for illness or injury in our community and our industries.

At sporting events and public gatherings of all descriptions wherever large crowds make the danger of accident or sudden illness more probable, uniformed members of St. John Ambulance are on duty to give skilful emergency treatment.

Although its members serve without remuneration, funds are still needed to carry on the work of St. John Ambulance. Such funds are obtainable only from subscriptions by members of the public who realize the importance of maintaining these vital services. St. John Ambulance appeals to your generosity in support of this important work it does on your behalf in Alberta.

The Journal acknowledges with thanks renewal subscriptions received during the week from Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burt, of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shaylor, of Victoria. The latter are the parents of Mrs. Wm. Fraser Jr. and they state that there has been a lot of wind and rain on the Island recently but it still is a nice climate. They add that the boulevard are still green. They send best regards to Coleman friends.

ROYAL PURPLE GIVES HOSPITAL PRACTICAL HELP

The members of the Royal Purple, Coleman Lodge, are aiding the Municipal Hospital board and matron in a most practical manner by giving of their time and energy in sewing the sheeting.

The Board has purchased a considerable amount of sheeting which has to be cut to certain lengths and then sewn. On Tuesday afternoon a committee of the lodge met Matron Cameron and were shown what was required. It is planned to allot a certain number of sheets to each group of members and so complete the 1500 yards of sheeting which is in storage here.

The Royal Purple is at the present time giving consideration towards the purchase of some furniture for the hospital and will probably come to some decision before next week.

On Monday afternoon ten members of the lodge were conducted a tour of the hospital to get a first hand look at the interior of the building and what it comprises. From this tour the members will be better able to advise the membership on what furniture could be purchased to advantage and what part of the hospital it would furnish.

Bellevue Lions Lose To Regina Pats

Bellevue's junior Lions hockey club lost another game last Saturday night to Regina Pats by a close 3-2 score. The Lions played under the coaching of Scotty Munroe, late of Lethbridge Native Sons.

The best team won but Lions played better than they have been doing on home ice and instead of the visiting team running roughshod over them in the third period as has been usually the case the locals held on grimly to hold them scoreless, although unable to score themselves to wipe out the one goal deficit which they had carried over from the second period.

Now that Munroe is at the helm it is to be expected that Bellevue's passing plays will tighten up and the power play which is conspicuous by its absence will come into existence.

The Lions on the whole have good hockey ivory but one or two spots require strengthening and the sooner these positions are strengthened the team should provide a potent threat to any other team in the league.

The Pass public is giving them marvelous support and on Saturday night seats were at a premium.

At the beginning of this century there were nearly 200 deaths from tuberculosis in every 100,000 people. Today the death rate is just a little over 40 per 100,000. Christmas Seals have been largely responsible for resultant saving of thousands of lives.

Legion Sponsoring U.E.F.B. Fund Canvass

Miners To Be Solicited in Mine and Businesses On Main Street; Canvass Started This Week

Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion is sponsoring the Coleman canvass of the United Emergency Fund for Britain in town and have gained the co-operation of the mining companies, miners' union and the businessmen in conducting the canvass.

It has been agreed by the union and the companies that the miners will be solicited individually in the mines and that their respective donations will be deducted from their pay statements. In this manner the canvass is made infinitely easier and quicker.

The businessmen and clerks will be solicited at their places of business. Arrangements have also been made to solicit employees at the strip mine and private contractors.

Those who may inadvertently be missed in the canvass and who wish to donate to the Fund can send their cheques to Jim Drew, secretary, Coleman branch of Canadian Legion or can contact Mr. Drew personally at the local government liquor store where he is employed.

Mr. Drew, in commenting on the United Emergency Fund for Britain stated:

"Today Britain stands in greater need of Canadian assistance than at any time since the dark days of 1940. She must import food or her people will starve—she must import raw materials or her factories will close—she must continue to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the United States and the Commonwealth Nations to maintain the peace and the recovery in Europe, if Freedom, Liberty and Democracy are to survive.

"This is Britain's greatest and most important battle at a Second Battle of Britain. The bulk of her imports and the economic help she requires must originate in the dollar countries and must be paid for in dollar currency which she has to earn. Out of a war in which she gave of her world resources without stint or limit, Britain has emerged burdened with a debt which few but the British people would have dared to contemplate with any degree of optimism.

"Her economy, geared to wartime requirements, was outdistanced and outmoded at a time when a greater performance was demanded of it than ever before. Because of it, Britain has been unable to produce and export sufficient goods to import the essential raw materials and foodstuffs she must have in order to win the battle which she is fighting."

Model Bakery Re-Opens For Business

Former Visser New Proprietor; Henry Staff Retained By New Owner.

Coleman's Model Bakery re-opened for business on Monday morning under the ownership of Mr. Henry Visser, an experienced baker.

Mr. Visser is a native of Holland and served his apprenticeship in his native land. He possesses wide experience in the field of bread and pastries and assures Pass citizens of a wide selection of baked goods.

He is already serving all grocery stores in the Pass towns with baked goods in addition to operating a bakery immediately north of the local C.P.R. depot.

Mr. Visser has retained the staff which formerly was engaged in the Bakery under the ownership of Mr. Heck, they being Mrs. Ann Vasek, Mrs. Mary Uno and Miss Adelle Panck.

When mailing "Air Mail", make sure your letter is not overweight, as rates are determined at each quarter ounce.

You can be of assistance to the local post office by buying your stamps well in advance. The your letters and cards in bundles before mailing. This will enable the post office to speed up your mail.

The following dates will help you to know just when to mail your parcels:

United States (especially parcels to allow for Customs examination), before Dec. 9.

Maritime Provinces, Dec. 4.

Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba, Dec. 15.

British Columbia, Dec. 18.

Alberta and Saskatchewan, Dec. 17.

Address all mail clearly and write your return address on every letter or parcel.

Board of Trade To Encourage Tourist Traffic

New Slate of Officers to be Nominated at Next Meeting; Discuss Sports Association Membership

A very good attendance greeted Board of Trade Chairman Percy Dickleson and his executive committee at the meeting of the Board on Thursday evening.

A letter of regret that he could not be present for the meeting was received from Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines.

Coleman Community Sports Association took the opportunity of approaching the Board by letter to ask its co-operation in prevailing upon those in its membership who conducted businesses to collect association membership fees from their respective staffs in order to ease the load of the canvassers each year. Discussion revealed that some merchants already practicing this while others had not done so because they had not been asked to do so either by the Association or by staff members. The situation now appears to be thoroughly understood by all and greater co-operation is anticipated next year between collectors and businessmen.

Tourist committee chairman Horace Allen gave an outline of the work done by his committee in drafting tourist literature which was hoped would be distributed next spring and summer to tourists passing through this area.

It was proposed to print 4,000 pamphlets 9"x28" and folded so that each page would measure 9"x4". The pamphlet would feature many subjects, such as scenery, fishing, hunting, education, civic government, mining, etc. and would also include a number of local illustrations. Cost was estimated at $250. It was agreed to go ahead with the project taking into consideration that while we may not have a paved highway in this area until 1950 it would require several years education of the tourist to keep him coming through here.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Henry Channing's Funeral Held On Saturday Morning

Many Floral Offerings Attended to the Estate Held By Deceased; Requiem High Mass Sung.

Many friends and acquaintances gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald on Saturday morning to pay their last respects to their daughter Mrs. Florence Channing, who had passed away unexpectedly in a Toronto hospital the previous Monday. Civic, mine and businessmen were seen in the gathering.

The funeral left the family residence shortly after 10:15 and wound its way along main street and then up to Holy Ghost church. Here regular high mass was sung. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted. Many friends were gathered in the church to take part in the service.

A brief graveside service was conducted by Father Sullivan in Coleman Catholic cemetery where interment was made.

Flallbearers included young friends and schoolmates of deceased and included J. Allan Jr., V. Brown, F. Boulton, J. McIntyre Jr., E. Fontana and F. De Cecco.

The floral tributes were so many that it required the service of a truck to transport them to the cemetery, attesting to the esteem and popularity held by deceased and the family in the hearts of Coleman friends and those farther distant.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my most sincere thanks to the many friends of my late wife, Florence, for their kindness, sympathy, beautiful floral offerings, cards and personal attention during this sad time. Henry Channing.

CARD OF THANKS

To very kind and thoughtful friends in Coleman and district who extend most sincere thanks for all floral offerings, mass cards, cards of sympathy and other kindnesses rendered during our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald and Family.

T.B. Xmas Seals Arriving in Town

Provincial Objective From Seals Set at $125,000; Asked to send Money to Seal Sale Fund, Lethbridge.

Xmas seals from the provincial Tuberculosis Association arrived in town last week addressed to numerous citizens. There were two dollars worth of seals sent in each letter along with a sealed addressed letter to Kinsmen Tuberculosis Seal Sale Fund, Lethbridge in which to send back two dollars.

A number have already sent back their $2 donation, many others have still to do so.

The provincial objective is $125,000. This money is used in health education, diagnostic and nursing services, vocational training and rehabilitation of T.B. patients.

The more money that is available the sooner the Association can accomplish its purpose, the complete eradication of T. B. working in closest co-operation with the federal and provincial departments of health.

Notice of Completion of Voters' List

Notice is hereby given under the provisions of section 108 of The Town and Village Act that the Voters' List of The Town of Coleman has been prepared and that a copy of the said Voters' List is posted in the office of the secretary-treasurer.

The posted list is open to inspection during business hours.

Any qualified elector may make application for the correction of any error or omission in the said voters' list by serving notice upon the secretary-treasurer in writing on or before the first day of December, 1948.

Dated at Coleman this 19th day of November, 1948.

G. LEES, Secretary-Treasurer.

Constable Shields Honored By Coleman Lions

Club To Sponsor Amateur Show To Exhibit Local Talent; Frank Duncanson Read Paper on Banking.

Coleman Lions club said farewell to Constable William Shields in a most fitting manner. Constable Shields, who is scheduled to leave the Force on Nov. 30 in order to go into business with his father-in-law at Vulcan.

Constable Shields was introduced to the members by Lion Percy Dickleson who stated that the members wished him good luck in his new venture. Constable Shields, he stated had done much for the Crows Nest Pass since coming here three years ago. His ethics and ideals had been of the highest and he was undoubtedly one of the best citizens in the Pass. Constable Shields was one of the men who made the Force the great organization which it is and which is respected by all. He would lend his heart and soul to do good in the community in which he lives and it was with a sense of regret that the Lions club of Coleman had to wish him good-bye.

Constable Shields stated that he had enjoyed his association with the Lions club and that he had enjoyed his service in the Force. It had been an education, having met many people and saw many things. However, he had a sense of regret that his family and it was due to this responsibility to them that he had taken the step he had in resigning from the Force to enter into business. While he would be residing at Vulcan he believed that both he and Mrs. Shields would occasionally be seen on the streets in the Pass towns for they had come to like the Crows Nest Pass and its citizens during their several years residence here. He closed by offering his help to the club should it ever find that it required some service which he might be able to render.

A most interesting paper was read by Lion Frank Duncanson on the subject of banking. He entered into the many phases of banking revealing what a bank can do and what it can't do; how loans are made and the various securities that are to be considered in different types of loans. He stressed the exceptionally sound base on which all Canadian chartered banks are operated and the close inspection kept on all banks operations by the Minister of Finance who acts on behalf of the citizens of Canada.

The paper was well prepared and The Journal will endeavor to have it reproduced in the Christmas issue in order to give readers an insight into banking and all that it entails and particularly for high school students studying economics as it will be invaluable to them.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Approximately 100 friends gathered in the I.O.O.F. hall on Wednesday, Nov. 17 at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. W. Spink, nee Mrs. Spivak.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SINGING INSIDE :: By ANNA E. WILSON

CHRISTINE looked out the window and laughed. Old Mr. Norton's newspaper had fallen across his face and he slept peacefully in the warm sunlight.

"Don't seem to have much interest in things since your granny died," Christine nodded knowingly. "Sleeps more and is dreamy like. Such old folks don't last long once they're parted."

Nancy giggled. She was a frank and pretty seventeen. "Doesn't he look darling with his white hair and his face as round as a baby's? Bet he's read that newspaper three times this morning."

But Old Mr. Norton wasn't sleeping. He was day dreaming in the past and tiny beads of perspiration lay undisturbed on his forehead.

It must have been the face of his granddaughter, Nancy, peeping out from her wedding veil as she tried to open, primping a little in plain view of his chair, that brought it all back to him. In the soft light, Nancy had looked much as her grandmother,

Allie, had looked all those years ago. Grandpa could see himself, a tall, shy young man in striped pants and a cutaway, waiting while Nancy came towards him up the aisle. She'd been a little thing; so small he could look down on the top of her head with his hand cupping peeping demurely through her veil as they waited for the words of the minister.

No, he hadn't been sure; there'd been an aching uncertainty that tortured him so that he trembled and his voice shook making the responses—and then, Allie had turned her face slightly upwards and smiled—the light from the altar candles had fallen on it and his heart had melted and run away from him and had never completely come back again for part of it had been caught and securely trapped in Allie's. The minister's words were almost inaudible now for something far more important than words was happening—something real and deep and fundamental. He and Allie were discovering a love that was to run through all their lives until the very end—yet it had so nearly failed to happen.

Like all the young men around, he had fancied himself half in love with Katie Calhoun. Katie had a good colour and fine white teeth and the night of Mrs. Kennedy's barn dance she had worn a smoky red dress with a red flower in her hair. She'd come with Bill Norcross, whose father owned the bank and they'd made a fine couple there the floor. Katie'd been so full of colour that he couldn't take his eyes off her and hardly heard his cousin, Nat, introducing Allie.

"Give her a good time," Nat had said, leaving them to join the group around Katie.

It had only been in politeness that he turned to Allie, to find her staring at Bill Norcross with just the same look he was bending on Katie. He hadn't known she was beautiful until she had looked up at him with those cornflower blue eyes that were full of a dazed sort of happiness and he'd been conscious of a small shock like the prick of an electric needle.

They were changing the music and the dance was over. Katie was talking to Mrs. Kennedy, her colour as red as a rose, as the musicians swung into an old-fashioned waltz. He had turned to Allie, meaning to ask her to dance but Bill had cut in. "My dance, Allie." And Allie had followed him as docile as a kitten. Left alone he had looked about for Katie and she had smiled at him clean across the room. He could still remember the way he'd felt—hot and cold and awkward with a sort of dizzy pain. He'd crossed the room, his head swimming, feeling taller than he was, and lured his arm in Katie's; they'd danced, Katie holding her long skirt just a little off the floor; he, conscious that his shiny buttoned boots were just a little tight and that the sweet was running down inside his collar.

They hadn't talked much but he'd taken her to dinner. Someone had placed them next to Allie and Bill. Katie'd been very sweet to him, while Bill made a great do-do over Allie.

He had taken Katie home that night and for weeks had gone about in a sort of seventh heaven, taking Katie to the skating rink, to the box socials, and always they'd run into Allie and Bill. Passing Bill, Katie had held her head high while Bill was sure to be looking into Allie's cornflower blue eyes or holding her arm just a little tighter than necessary. Pretty soon folks had been accepting them as almost engaged couples, inviting them everywhere together, to the spelling bee, to the community singing.

"Something Far More Important Than Words Was Happening—Something Real And Deep And Fundamental."

At the spelling bee, Allie and Bill spelled down the big line and were facing each other. Allie pink and excited, Bill's face red and confused. Katie was wearing her red dress and Bill couldn't take his eyes off it.

They had almost finished the words in the spelling book when Katie blew a soft kiss into the rose she had been wearing in her hair and drew it through her fingers, looking at Bill. Bill had stumbled, repeated himself and gone down on the word "contemtable". Folks, who had been sure Bill would win, gasped, then broke into an excited buzz as Allie spelled "contemtable" in a small, determined voice with an "n" and went to sit by Bill, knowing well that the mischievous Katie had intended to bring about his confusion.

It had been the night of the community singing that things had come to a head. Katie had sung in a throaty contralto, an old love song, looking straight at Bill and everybody knew that her heart was in her eyes and in her voice so that Bill went to her just as a tail is drawn to a comet, while Allie turned her pearl pink face to her cousin, Nat, and in the choral singing that followed, sang in a clear, high soprano that topped the sultry notes of Katie as a bird soars above a marshy meadow.

After the singing, he had taken Allie home. They hadn't talked much, walking along through the silent street, smelling Mrs. Jones' sylvia and the late roses in the minister's garden and neither of them caring. He'd pressed her hand gently at the door and asked her to the hayride at Fyler's.

They got engaged at Katie's wedding. Allie looking like an angel in her bridesmaid's dress of pink tulle and satin, her face sweet with determined courage. No, he hadn't been sure, Old Mr. Norcross thought dreamily, until they stood there in the light from the candles, and then he'd been sure for always. For the look in the cornflower blue eyes had been the very same look that she'd bent on him there at Mrs. Kennedy's dance but he'd mistaken it then, thinking it meant for Bill and not for him. Conscious again of the tiny pinprick of pain and jealousy, Grandpa smiled at the little drama of love and night in which he and Allie and Katie and Bill had whetted their love for each other.

The paper fluttered to the ground and soft arms went about his neck. "Tell me what it was like, grandpa, when you and grandma were married—were you sort of happy and excited?"

Old Mr. Norcross caught the dimpled hands in his wrinkled ones. "It didn't show much on the surface," he said softly, "but we were singing inside."

And she knows whereof she speaks, for she's been married 75 years. Here, gazing at photograph taken of themselves five years after they were married, are Pierre and Julienne Godefroy, Canada's oldest living married couple. They hope to be around to celebrate their 100th anniversary.—S.N.S. photo.

SUES POP CONCERN—Claiming shock, pain and suffering which she received when she is said to have found a worm in a bottle of pop, Mrs. Edith Cumming, shown here, of Windsor, Ont., is suing a soft-drink manufacturer and a dealer for $20,000.—S.N.S. photo.

AFTER THEY GAMBLERED WITH DEATH—AND WON—Pamela Lamphere leaves the county hospital in Chicago, Ill., after the second successful operation for malformation of the bladder. She will receive the third and last operation in about six months. So dangerous was the operation that Pamela's parents had separated over the question of whether it should or should not be performed. They became reconciled once the decision was made. Dr. Herbert Trace and Dr. William Strecker, (right), are holding Pamela good-bye.—S.N.S. photo.

ANGLO-AMERICAN GET-TOGETHER AT EMBASSY AT LONDON—This informal group of VIP's was photographed in the drawing-room of the U.S. embassy in London after the luncheon tendered by U.S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas for U.S. and British statesmen. Left to right are Secretary of State George Marshall, Mrs. Winston Churchill (seated), Mrs. Lewis Douglas (standing), Mrs. James Douglas (seated on floor), Ambassador Douglas, Miss Sharman Douglas, James Douglas (standing), Mrs. Marshall and Winston Churchill. The wartime prime minister and the U.S. secretary of state had a long chat after the luncheon. The dog is Miss Douglas' pet.—S.N.S. photo.

WINS NOBEL PRIZE—It was announced recently that Dr. Paul Mueller, 48, of Basle, Switzerland, was awarded the 1948 Nobel Prize in medicine. He was given the prize, worth 159,772 crowns ($14,000), for having discovered the strong insect-killing powers of DDT. Dr. Mueller will receive the award in Stockholm.—S.N.S. photo.

BLACKOUT IN ONTARIO—Bedtime for a lot of young Ontario people comes during early evening power cut-off which some localities have already started. Candles, lanterns, and oil lamps are coming into their own again. The youngster above looks happy about the whole thing.—S.N.S. photo.

PASTOR RECEIVES COAST-TO-COAST PUBLICITY—The new minister of a Toronto church, Rev. Ernest Marshall Howse, who drove from Winnipeg with his wife and young family in time for his induction in his new charge, received quite a lot of publicity recently. It was his idea of installing electronic chimes in the tower of Westminster United, Winnipeg, that gave Dr. Howse unexpected publicity all over the continent. He thought it would be a nice idea to use the chimes to welcome new babies into the homes or members of his congregation. So on Sunday mornings the chimes rang out with a children's hymn, and the church calendar announced the name of the new arrival. Above Dr. Howse is seen with his wife and Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, (right). Dr. Howse will succeed Dr. Pidgeon.—S.N.S. photo.

PARACHUTE VICTIM—When his parachute failed to open during a practice jump at Rivers, Man., Lieut. Gerry A. Lynch of Montreal was killed. The accident was described as "one in a million".—S.N.S. photo.

ROBBED—Mrs. Jose De Plancke, wife of a garage operator at Mabee's Corners, Ont., reports she was held up and robbed recently of $40 by a lone gunman armed with a rifle. "I want bills or I will kill you," she quoted the bandit as saying. Mrs. De Plancke was alone in the garage at the time. She took the number of the escape car which later was reported as having been stolen. She said she knew the gunman meant business.—S.N.S. photo.

ANCIENT OIL LAMP—Used as a street light in Dundalk, Ont., before the days of electricity, this lamp, well over 50 years old, is still in excellent condition. Later, it was used for more than 25 years to light a church, near Dundalk. In these days of Ontario hydro power shortages, lamps again are finding use.—S.N.S. photo.

TO MAKE NEW FILM—Italian-born movie star, Valli is seen with her son Charlie, five, on arrival at Southampton from New York. She called in London to settle him in a flat there before going to Vienna to start work on a new film.—S.N.S. photo.

Dec. 13 Deadline For Amateur Show Entries

Lions To Endeavor to Give
 Talented Coleman Citizens
 Chance to Exhibit Their Talents.

December 13 will be the deadline for all entries in the Coleman Lions amateur contest which will be held on a date still to be decided but which will very probably be in December. Entries should be recorded with Bob Pattinson as early as possible so that the committee in charge will have an idea of how many entries they will have to handle.

It is hoped to have entries in vocal, instrumental, novelty dancing and elocution classes. Their will be two prizes, ladies first and gent's first. The winners will be decided by popular vote, the audience doing the voting.

A committee comprising Frank Duncanson, Jim Allan Jr. and Arthur Graham is busy at the present time arranging for a hall and determining the date and time of the contest.

It has been decided that this particular show will be confined to Coleman artists. Should it be the success anticipated, it is planned to hold a second amateur show with entries invited from the Pass towns.

Coleman possesses a number of citizens who are quite talented. The opportunity however for them to exhibit their talent has seldom if ever been accorded them and it is for this reason that the Lions plan this show in order that the spotlight may fall on them for a few minutes and their fellow citizens sit back and enjoy an evening of entertainment.

A charge is being made for admission, proceeds to be used for local charitable activities.

WEDDINGS

HARRIGAN — BOURQUE
 Holy Ghost church on Wednesday morning, Nov. 17, was the scene of a wedding which united in marriage a Chicago Illinois, couple, Miss Marie Anne Rita Bourque to Mr. John Harrigan. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan performed the ceremony.

Witnesses were Thomas Harrigan, of Chicago, and Mrs. Lorraine Aiello. The latter is a sister-in-law to the bride. A reception was held in the Grand Union hotel following the ceremony and which was attended by a number of Coleman friends.

DREJA — LAPTOS
 A wedding of interest to Coleman's Polish citizens took place on Saturday, Nov. 13, when Miss Genowefa Laptos, of Lethbridge and formerly of Poland, was united in marriage to Mr. Tadusz Dreja, of Coleman and formerly of Poland. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted the ceremony.

Witnesses were Staffie Bator and Andy Gettman. The bride is one of the Polish domestics who came to Canada a year ago and gained employment at Lethbridge. They will reside in Coleman where the groom is employed.

CAMBRIN — GARDINER
 A marriage of interest to Hill crest citizens took place on Wednesday, Nov. 17, when Euphemie Chalmers Gardiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gardiner, of Hillcrest, was united in marriage to Mr. Victor Riva Cambrin, of Hillcrest. Rev. Dr. R. Magowan officiated at the ceremony.

Witnesses included Audrey Hotte and Richard Gardiner, Jr.
SZULC — SPIEVAK
 The marriage took place at Holy Ghost church, Coleman on Saturday, Oct. 30, of Millie third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spievak, sr., to Wladyslaw Szulc, of Coleman. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted the ceremony.

The bride wore a Panamerican beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of Gardenias. Witnesses were Mrs. Maurice Drew, sister of the bride, and Mr. Andrew Olszka.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where about seventy guests gathered to greet the newly-weds and wish them health and happy married bliss.

The young couple will make their home in Coleman, the groom being an employee of McGillivray Coal & Coke Co. Ltd.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Whatever you undertake — give it everything you've got!

Your job or working conditions may not be to your liking. But don't let that be a damper. Put everything you have into your work and see how much happier you feel.

Suppose some acquaintances drop in for a visit, thus interrupting your enjoyment of a book or radio program. If you resent their intrusion, your guests certainly will not enjoy themselves. And you will be bored and restless. But if you decide that since they are there, you will be as pleasant and entertaining as you can — then they will have a good time and, to a surprising degree, so will you.

Whether you apply this principle to conversation, games, hobbies, or community activities, the results will be more than repay you for the extra effort you make.

And putting your heart into everything you do will make your whole life happier and more successful!

The modern life insurance agent puts everything he's got into his job — helping people build a secure financial future. His enthusiasm is sincere because it is based on his personal conviction that life insurance meets a vital need.

Advertising acts as a tonic to any head of business enterprise.

Coleman To Sponsor Ice Carnival

Sports' Association To Bend Every Effort To Raise Money For Modernizing Arena.

The skating arena, centre of local winter activity, is in need of modern improvements such as proper dressing rooms, showers, lavatories, etc. In order that it meet the requirements of the sports' loving public not only in the winter time but also in the summer time as certain sports could be played in the arena if provision was made for them. The arena with proper renovation could be in use twelve months of the year.

Coleman Sports' Association executive is fully cognizant of this fact and during the winter months will bend every effort to raise money with which to make some of the improvements.

The major sports activity they have in mind is the ice carnival. It is hoped that with several major attractions that the carnival will be given sufficient color so that it will attract the attendance of Association members in town but sports loving enthusiasts in other Pass towns.

Another activity will be the organizing of a commercial hockey league in which teams from a number of local organizations will play against each other every Sunday afternoon the silver collections received at those games to be placed in the arena improvement fund for renovation.

In order that the committee be successful in its objective all Coleman wage earners, who are all Association members, must realize that they must give support to the executive's efforts. Their support is not expected to be in the form of an outright donation but rather support of activities sponsored by the Association and at which a dollar admission fee will be made for a dollar's worth of real honest to goodness entertainment.

Xmas Shopping Increases In Momentum

Stores Plan on Being More Brightly Lighted Than Ever Before This Yuletide Season

Last pay-Saturday Coleman stores were hard pressed to maintain the pace under a deluge of heavy buying. Some of the cause was credited to Christmas shoppers who were already choosing gifts and either paying cash for their purchases or laying them away with a small deposit on them.

Merchants anticipate another heavy shopping day this pay-Saturday and the momentum of Christmas buying to increase until a day or two before Christmas. Most dry goods, hardware and stores catering to Christmas shopping are buying heavily in order to have complete stocks on hand for Christmas shoppers.

Pattinson's Hardware and Salus' General store receive the credit for being the first local stores to get out their Christmas colored lights for use in window displays. Despite the lack of snow to give a more Christmasy appearance the displays in both stores were most attractive and youngsters particularly were thrilled at the thought of Santa soon to arrive.

It is expected that agreement will be reached between the merchants and Coleman Light & Water Co. within the week on rates which would permit all night lighting of store windows. If agreement is reached it will enable the storekeepers to go all out this Yuletide to make their window displays as attractive as possible and shoppers can window shop on main street regardless of the hour in which they may saunter down town.

It has been the practice in the past for council to have its workmen string colored lights across main street and no doubt the practice will be continued this year.

Rev. A. S. Dewdney Speaks On Far North

"You have to be a jack of all trades up there," Mr. Dewdney advised his listeners, at the regular meeting held Monday night in Grand Union hotel. "I pulled an average of four teeth a month besides other duties."

When Mr. Dewdney and his wife first went in to their northern post it took them three weeks to arrive from Edmonton. Their trip out to Edmonton lasted only 12 hours flying time. "The chief impression you get is the vastness and emptiness of the country." Pointing to a map he said: "The Northwest Territories plus the Yukon have a larger area than the rest of Canada."

Moving North

"I do find that most people are very ignorant about the north of Canada. We should be more conscious of the north. Our country is going to move north. We still have frontiers in Canada and I think that the frontiers of the country are moving north," he advised.

While Mr. Dewdney busied himself with church work and the general welfare of the Indians—"they are very Oriental in appearance"—his wife assisted with childbirths and general medical work among the people. A doctor from Aklavik was able to visit Fort Macpherson only once a year, he observed.

Fine Garden

Due to peculiarities of climate with four months of summer and eight months of winter, the Dewdneys were able to plant a remarkable garden. Wheat, oats, barley, cabbage, carrots, beets and other products were grown successfully in the northern climate.

The climate? "Once it went to 66 degrees below zero," he recalled, "but the average during the winter is 30 below with no wind. The winter is no more severe than some points of Saskatchewan." Summer comes suddenly early in May; in September it turns cool, with snow by the middle of October. There are just the two seasons.

Indians and Eskimos make a good living trapping and hunting. They camp on the edges of the great herds of caribou for hunting. Muskrat trapping is very profitable.

The Indians at his mission contributed between $800 and $900 towards the Red Cross while he was there, and purchased $4,000 to $5,000 worth of war bonds.

Around his Arctic post the country is "very wooded," because it is in the tree line. He recalls splitting some blocks of wood that were one and a half feet in diameter.

First Aid Hints for Miscellaneous Injuries

FOREIGN BODY IN THE EAR CHANNEL

If an insect is in the ear channel, fill the ear with olive oil, when the insect will float and may be removed. Otherwise make no attempt to treat a patient with a foreign body in the ear, but take him to a doctor as soon as possible; attempts to remove the foreign body may lead to fatal consequences. If a child cannot be induced to keep the fingers from the ear, tie his hands down to prevent his pushing the foreign body further. Never syringe or probe the ear.

FOREIGN BODY IN THE NOSE

Instruct the patient to breathe through the mouth. Do not interfere with the foreign body, but take him to a doctor at once.

FOREIGN BODY IN THE STOMACH

Pins, and other small, sharp objects, may be accidentally swallowed. Give nothing by the mouth, but take the patient to a doctor at once. Smooth objects such as coins or buttons need not cause alarm.

FROST BITE

Wind and constricting clothing will make the tissues freeze more readily. Moisture on the skin, and air heavily laden with moisture, will make the tissues freeze more readily; that is the tissues will stand a much lower temperature in dry air than in moist air, before freezing takes place.

TREATMENT: 1. Slow thawing. 2. No rubbing. 3. No moisture. 4. No Snow.

Pincher To Crows Nest Highway To Be Graded To Standard In 1949 And Hard-Surfaced In 1950

Southern Trans-Canada president Ernie McFarland, of Lethbridge, is giving much time and effort in promoting the interests of the highway in the proper places. Last week he travelled to Edmonton where he was received by Premier E. C. Manning and the Hon. D. R. MacMillan, Minister of Public Works.

He was assured that the department has no intention whatsoever of changing its program of road construction and hard-surfacing in the south of the province. The Canadian southern highway route through Alberta will be completed by the end of 1950 unless unusual weather conditions are experienced.

Only two sections of the highway at present are not hard-surfaced. The section from Taber to Medicine Hat has been graded and will be hard-surfaced during 1949. The portion from Pincher Creek to the Crow's Nest Pass will be graded to standard in 1949 and hard-surfaced in 1950.

Completely Satisfied

Mr. McFarland states "I am completely satisfied and feel that the south will not be overlooked. The present Alberta government has always fulfilled its promises regarding highway construction and I see no reason to doubt that the present program will be carried out to the letter."

"I found the premier most tourist-minded and I am convinced he will do all in his power to keep U.S. tourists moving in great numbers into Alberta," said Mr. McFarland.

New Regulations Govern Alberta Regional Drama Festivals

Invitations to be issued by Executive Committee of Alberta Drama League

Mr. Arthur E. Graham, president of the Alberta Drama League, announces that new regulations will govern the Alberta Regional Drama Festival for 1949.

It is to be noted that sub-regional festivals are being dispensed with this year but that the League will accept entries and provide for adjudicators for any group interested. There is nothing to prevent several groups getting together and arranging for an adjudication on the same night and at the same performance.

Here are the regulations for 1949.

1. No sub-regional festivals will be held this year. In place of the sub-regional Festivals Groups who wish to submit a production for adjudication and possible invitation to participate in the Regional Festival will be adjudged separately in their own auditoriums or such places where they usually present plays. The adjudicator will attend one of the performances of the play when it is presented before the public and the adjudication will be given privately at the close of the performance.

2. Groups shall be responsible for the travelling expenses of the adjudicator and shall also be responsible for his living accommodation and expenses during the time he is engaged by the group.

3. Entries will be accepted of both full-length plays and short plays in either English or French provided that full-length plays do not have a cast exceeding twenty-five persons and short plays take not less than twenty minutes and not more than one hour to perform between the first and final curtains and do not have a cast exceeding fifteen persons.

4. The limitations as to presentation within or before curtains has been removed. Groups have the choice of using either drapes or a full stage setting at their own discretion.

5. The dates allocated to Alberta for the Regional Festival are March 7, 8, and 9, 1949, and will take place in Calgary. All adjudications must be completed by February 6, 1949, and no play can be considered for adjudication after that date.

6. Notice of intention to enter a play for consideration and requests for an adjudication must be made to Mr. Robert Stuart, Secretary Alberta Drama League, Extension Department, University of Alberta, Edmonton, together with details of place and time of performance, and a copy of the play to be presented.

7. Invitations to take part in the Regional Festival will be issued by and in the discretion of the Executive Committee of the Alberta Drama League having regard to the report of the Adjudicators and the general standard of presentation across the Province.

WORLD HAPPENINGS

BRIEFLY TOLD

In two months seven sea mines were found on beaches at Felixstowe, Suffolk, England. All were successfully disposed of.

The death of Percy John Del Smith, 66, the artist who lettered the Canadian war memorial at Vimy Ridge, was announced recently in London.

Thousands of South African children have tasted white bread for the first time in their lives recently. White bread was sold for the first time since introduction of the standard brown loaf seven years ago.

Canadian agricultural implements worth $3,000,000 will be shipped to France and French possessions under purchases announced by the economic co-operation administration.

A German midget submarine, believed to have risen from the sea bed through development of gas in its interior, has been found by fishermen off Livorno, Route radio reported.

George Wilkes returned to the police force at Hanley, England, for a week—to qualify for a full pension. He retired 18 months ago, but found he was under age for the first week of his service in 1920.

Aussie Invents Egg Pulping Machine

(By C. M. Smith)

A lecturer-in-charge of Agricultural College, New South Wales, Australia, John Meade B. Sc. (Agr.) Sydney, has patented a machine for the extraction of egg pulp. The machine not only handles large quantities of eggs speedily and with a minimum of manpower, but removes more pulp from the eggs than was possible by the hand-breaking method previously used.

John Meade

Last year, 25,000,000 lbs. of eggs were exported from Australia in the form of frozen egg pulp. This method of packing is now generally used because the pulp occupies much less space in ships' freezing chambers than its equivalent in eggs in shell and almost certainly arrives at its destination in prime condition.

Egg Marketing Boards had found that breaking by hand for pulping was wasteful and costly.

With Mr. Meade's machine, girls operatives place the eggs in cups on a conveyor. As the eggs are carried on the conveyor towards the piercing position, they are given a final examination by an expert "candler" and any stale or suspected ones revealed by a strong light which shines from below are taken out to ensure pulp of high quality.

The eggs are pierced six at a time from end to end by a slender needle, and the contents removed almost instantaneously by suction through the hole in the lower side of the shell and passed into a special screening and homogenizing machine, the Lomax emulsifier, which removes any trace of skin, shell or foreign matter. The pulp is transferred to 28 or 40-lb. containers, and brine-cooled by a heat exchange machine to a temperature of 28 deg. Fahr. The tins then go into a special refrigeration chamber for "blast freezing", at temperatures ranging between zero and minus 10 deg. Fahr. At the end of 12 to 15 hours, the pulp is frozen solid, and will keep indefinitely if stored in a temperature of 10 to 20 deg. Fahr.

A battery of six Meade machines, with a capacity of 49,000 dozen eggs each eight-hour working day, is operating successfully in Sydney and more are being built for use at other points in Australia.

Mr. Meade is one of the technical advisers to the New South Wales Egg Marketing Board. The financing and development of the idea was mainly done by the Egg Marketing Board of N.S.W.

Girl operatives working at the moving trays of eggs on the Meade Egg Pulping machine. Each tray holds 168 eggs. The needles that puncture the shells can be seen at the far end of the tray.

Accent Is Still On Youth Among N.H.L. Clubs

The six National Hockey League teams are strong advocates of the accent on youth policy which is becoming so prevalent in sporting circles these days. The average age of a player in the N.H.L. this season is 25.4 years. Only 19 of the 101 players in the League have reached the 30 or more mark.

Toronto Maple Leafs, a team that consistently comes up with youthful squads, has the youngest average of any team in the circuit this season. The average age among the Leafs players is 24.2 years. Turk Broda is the only player on the Toronto roster in the 30 or over category, and oddly enough he is also the oldest player in the National Hockey League. Broda was born on May 15, 1914, three months before Neil Colville of the Rangers, who is the second oldest player in the N.H.L.

Besides boasting the oldest player in the National League, the Leafs also boast the youngest player in the loop in rightwinger Fleming Mackell. Fleming was born on April 30, 1929, six weeks after Canadiens' Eddie Dorey, second youngest player in the League.

Second youngest N.H.L. club this year is Detroit, with an average age of 24.9 years. Only two of the 17 players on the Red Wings roster, Jack Stewart and Sid Abel, have seen 30 birthdays. Stewart is the oldest of the team at 31, while Abel is an even 30. Gordon Howe is the youngest of the squad at 20.

The combined years of the 17 players on Montreal Canadiens total 432, which gives the Habitués an average of 25.4 years per player. Dorey at 19 is the baby, while veterans Murph Chamberlain and Bill Durnan, both 33, are the oldest of the team. Canadiens have five players on their roster 30 or more years old. Besides Chamberlain and Durnan there are Joe Carveth, Billy Reay and Elmer

High Quality Seed Available

An abundance of high quality seed for important kinds and varieties has been produced in Canada in 1948, and farmers have the best opportunity in recent years to purchase requirements for 1949 seedling.

A record production of wheat, oats, barley; flax seed, peas and beans of popular and valuable varieties, eligible for Registered and Certified grades, will be available to farmers at attractive prices. The use of pedigree seed of recommended varieties, of high purity and approved quality, is the best known method whereby farmers can maintain quality crops for commercial use.

Lach, who are all 30.

Boston Bruins are icing the fourth youngest crew in the N.H.L. this season with the average Boston player being 25.9 years. Five of the teams are in the 30 or over bracket—namely Jack Crawford, 33; Frank Brimsek, 33; Woody Dumart, 31; Milt Schmidt, 30; and Pat Egan, 30. Youngest player on the club is Paul Ronty at 20. Eddie Sandford is also 20 but Ronty was born four months later than Sandford.

Chicago Black Hawks have a team average of 26.2 years which is a decimal point higher than New York Rangers at 26.1 and makes the Black Hawks and Rangers the loop's oldest. Chicago has three players over 30, the persons of Roy Conacher, 32; Doug Bentley, 32; and Red Hamill, 31. Metro Prystay was born on November 7, 1927, three months after Bill Gadsby, second youngest player on the team. Nick Miskoski, Rangers' rookie forward is the neophyte among the Broadway Blueshirts at 20.

IRISH STEW

By JANE DALE

Ma makes real good apple pie; Cinnamon buns and doughnuts to She makes scrumptious chocolate cake.

But let me at her Irish stew! When I'm hungry, tired and blue, Then I think of mother's stew.

Oh I fall asleep to dream Not of girls or fortunes rare; Not of pies or sweet odd cakes, Nor of buns or doughnuts there; But I dream a dream so true, I almost taste my mother's stew!

Ma makes wondrous loaves of bread, Rich sweet doughnuts and biscuits too. She can make most anything But give me now her Irish stew!

Red Deer Man Wins Wheat Title

TORONTO — S. J. Alsop of Red Deer, Alta., won the world championship in wheat at the Royal Winter fair.

His entry of 18 pounds of Reward hard red spring wheat carried off the Canadian National Railways challenge trophy and $100 cash prize. First winner of the world title, instituted at the royal last year, was Mrs. A. G. Kelsey of Erickson, B.C.

Prizewinners of seed exhibits represented four Canadian provinces and the state of Oregon.

An exhibit of Barhoff barley won first prize for J. Hagerty and son of Alma, Ont. Second and third barley awards were taken by T. E. Brown of Cassils, Alta., and G. Rehr of Brooks, Alta.

Larain, from the Abco, Alta., farm of John Boulton won first prize in the white oats judging. Emmott Moha of Camrose, Alberta, placed second.

Other firsts in white oats won in medium or late-maturing seed by V. Watson of Airdrie, Alta., and in early-maturing seed by Norbert Frederick of Bushy, Alta.

Other prize winners: Spring and winter rye: J. R. Winstrom, Camrose, Alta.; 2. T. E. Brown, Cassils, Alta.

Flax: 1. C. K. Rosdal, Rolling Hills, Alta.; 2. R. P. Robins, Shaunavon, Sask.; 3. T. E. Brown, Cassils, Alta.

Alfalfa: 1. Sam Harton, White Fox, Sask.; 2. J. T. Brooks, Alta.; 3. M. Severston, Vauxhall, Alta.

First was won by H. M. Guilford, North Battleford, for created wheat grass.

The Cost Of Government

TAXATION IS A MATTER which is of interest to almost every citizen since in recent years income and other taxes have been a considerable item in the budgets of most Canadians. During the war, the need for increased revenue was obvious, and there were few who questioned the necessity for them to contribute through taxes to the support of Canada's war effort. While there have been reductions in income taxes and in some other fields of taxation recently, it appears unlikely that they will ever again reach pre-war levels. Recent figures issued by the Canadian Bureau of Statistics on the cost of maintaining the Federal government show that there has been a tremendous increase in the past ten years. In the year ending last March 31, there were 118,370 Federal civil servants and their annual salaries totalled $226,790,000.

Now Less Than In Peak Years

In 1938, there were only 44,143 civil servants and their annual payroll was $66,880,000. This was calculated by the Bureau to show that in the ten years between 1928 and 1948 there had been an increase in the number of employees of 268 per cent, and in the salary costs of 339 per cent. It was pointed out that these figures do not include revenue postmasters; employees paid by the hour, and those working for crown corporations. While at present the number of employees is considerably less than it was in the peak years of 1946 and 1947, it is higher than it was before the war, and it is expected that the cost will be higher, this year, due to increases in the salaries of civil servants. The rise in the number of government employees at this time is said to be due to the expanding activities of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, the Department of National Health and Welfare and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Trend Towards More Service

There is clearly a trend in these times for the government to increase its services to the people in matters of health, welfare and various forms of social security. This trend is by no means confined to Canada. It has been evident in the United States for the past two decades, the people of England have shown that they desire more legislation of this kind, and in Australia and New Zealand much social legislation has been introduced. There is no doubt as to the benefits derived from such services, but in demanding them the people should realize that they increase the cost of government and that this cost must in the long run, be borne largely by the public. This problem is not one that is faced only by Canadians. In the United Kingdom the cost of government has almost doubled in the past ten years. While it is most desirable that we should progress socially, it should be understood that such progress inevitably increases public expenditures, and that as a result, higher taxes are to be expected.

GIRL'S HAIR GENERATES STATIC ELECTRICITY

FITTSFIELD, Mass. — Static electricity that crackles in a girl's hair when she combs it has been harnessed to a flash-bulb. General Electric Engineers said. Now she can take a picture of herself with the 8,900 volts she generates on every stroke. The electricity generated also is sufficient to fire the spark plugs in an automobile engine, they added.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

Letter to Newspaper: What is an enigma?

Answer: Any object which no one would be seen with if there were more of them, but which everyone wants when no one has any.

Two girls, walking home together, were discussing their current heart interests. Said one: "Now I ask you Isabel, how could I like him? He's so deceitful, pretending to believe me when he knows I'm lying to him!"

"Why, Mary, you are breaking more and more crockery than your wages amount to! What can we do about it?"

"I don't know, ma'am. Maybe you'd better raise my wages."

"I had a hunch today. I got up at seven, had seven dollars in my pocket, and there were seven horses in the race—I picked the seventh."

"So he came in the winner?"

"No, he came in seventh."

A girl who was in love with a jockey had persuaded her mother to see her fiance ride in a race. Mother took up her position near the rails, and when the horses flashed past and disappeared, she snapped her mouth like a clamp.

"You ought not to marry that boor. I told him to look out for me, and when he passed he never even raised his cap."

Customer: "Walter, there's no wishbone in this chicken."

Waiter: "It didn't need one, sir. That chicken lived such a contented life that it had nothing to wish for."

After chatting with her new maid for a few minutes, Mrs. Simpson said:

"My last two housemaids were too fond of policemen, and I had to discharge them on that account. I do hope you won't give me any trouble of that sort."

"No bloom! fear, mum," answered the maid quickly. "You see, my young man's a cat burglar!"

"Oh!" said the nervous old lady to the bus conductor, "I do wish the driver wouldn't go quite so fast round these skiddy corners."

"That's all right, lady," said the conductor. "You just want to shut your eyes, same as he does!"

Young wife: "My husband is frightfully run down."

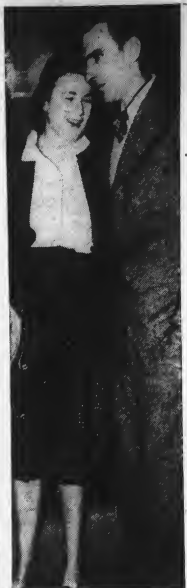

Doctor: "Business worries, perhaps?"

"Oh, it can't be that. His business has just been wound up."

"What are all these quotation marks on your examination paper, Jones?"

"Courtesy to the boy on my right, sir."

Paradise is a Persian word, meaning a royal park or enclosed pleasure garden.

He returned to the U.S. in 1944 and Joan couldn't join him because the Aussie quota was filled. So she came to Vancouver and the next step is for Joan to get across the border.—S.N.S. photo.

RECIPES

HINTS ON CHOCOLATE DIPPING
Melt chocolate in top of double boiler, never letting any steam or water get into it.
Do not let the chocolate get hotter than 100F. when melting—this means water over which dipping chocolate is melted should not boil—merely be hot enough to steam.
Dipping chocolate should be cooled to 85F. before the centres are dipped.

The more the chocolate is beaten while melting and worked with by the hand on the dipping slab the glossier the finished product will be.

ENGLISH TOFFEE
1½ cups sweetened condensed milk (1 tin)
1 cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons corn syrup
½ cup butter
Use a heavy pan in making this candy and butter the bottom well. Mix all the ingredients very thoroughly before you begin to cook the mixture. Put it on low heat and cook slowly but steadily, stirring all the time, until it thickens.
This will take half hour or longer. Pour into buttered pan, mark in squares and allow to harden. Rum flavoring may be added if rum and butter toffee is desired.

Estimates 600,000 Acres Of Land Suited For Irrigation In Central Sask.

SASKATOON. — John Mitchell, head of the soils department at the University of Saskatchewan, estimates approximately 600,000 acres of farm lands in central Saskatchewan are suitable for irrigation.

Under Mitchell's supervision, soil areas in central Saskatchewan have been assessed from the irrigation standpoint over the past two years. The surveys have been carried out in order to find how much land is suited to irrigation when the proposed Elbow dam is constructed.

In 1947, teams under his direction conducted soil surveys on over 1,000,000 acres of farm lands in central Saskatchewan, 500,000 acres were found to be suitable for irrigation. This year's four extension surveys covered another 400,000 acres. The findings are still being tabulated.

But Mitchell, in a conservative

Montana Editor Really Started Something

PLENTYWOOD, Mon. — When people start competing against each other in supplying news for the local newspaper, the editor generally winds up in the middle, as George A. Gross, publisher of the Plentywood Herald, found out to his sorrow. The following article appeared in a recent issue of the Herald:

"This thing has got to stop. It all began weeks ago when P. C. Peterson began working for the Plentywood Herald, and he brought it to the Herald office. With an eye for the unusual, the editor lapped up the story and featured the freak of the Peterson garden. Shortly thereafter, L. M. Jensen, a bachelor from Coalridge, brought in a triplet ear of corn. This challenged Lester Hancock of Medicine Lake who introduced his quadruplet ear of corn to the editor.

"That stopped the multiple 'births' for a few weeks but Peterson came back for more with a quintuplet pampin. He was barely out of the office when Mrs. Ole Johnson struggled up the steps of the Herald office with quintuplet carrots. But now — and hold your hats a new freak has been added to the list. It's an eight-headed cabbage brought in by Mrs. Emil Rost of Archer. Perhaps it's because we live so close to Canada."

estimate, said an additional 100,000 acres of good irrigable soil were found. Added to last year's figure, this means that about 600,000 acres of farm lands in central Saskatchewan are considered suitable for irrigation. He emphasized this estimate is subject to revision.

The four extension surveys this year were conducted in the Pike Lake area, the Delisle-Asguth region, the Bradwell-Elstow district, and the Moose Jaw-Thunder Creek sector.

Mitchell explained the irrigation possibilities at Pike Lake were actually quite independent of the proposed Elbow dam development. He foresaw a thriving irrigation development in the Pike Lake district.

In the Moose Jaw-Thunder Creek extension, he reported, the soil is largely heavy Regina clay. He said acreage in this sector is not liable to be included in any South Saskatchewan River irrigation scheme.

Foreseen Success

It is in the Delisle-Asguth and the Bradwell-Elstow district that the 100,000 acres of good irrigable soil is located.

Mitchell has commented on the overall aspects of the projected irrigation development in central Saskatchewan. He believed that an irrigation project based on the Elbow dam will finally materialize, as now foreseen. But he emphasized—it is necessarily a slow growth.

The southern Alberta irrigation development took up to 30 years to get on a sound footing, observed Dr. Mitchell.

Winter's Fuel Free For The Taking

LILLOOET, B.C. — High costs of fuel are not going to worry ranchers and farmers in this district this winter.

Good burning coal, free for the taking, is available in the Upper Hat Creek valley.

Invitation for district residents to help themselves has come from Manfred McGeer, well-known Vancouver barrister, who is associated with the Hat Creek Coal Mines.

Several thousand tons of good burning coal were exposed when swollen waters of Hat Creek washed off the overburden in June this year. The deposit is just below the Hat Creek Coal Mine, which has not been operating since before the war, and 200 yards from the main road.

Offer was confirmed when a group of Lillooet citizens went out with a truck and brought back about a ton of the fuel.

They were able to back the truck to within 10 feet of the deposit. With coal at $25 a ton at Lillooet, the overrunning is causing considerable interest.

Geologists have found huge bodies of lignite in the Hat Creek area. There are also large deposits of ceramic clays which could be used in making cement, brick and pottery.
